Jon M. Kingsdale, PhD, is the executive director of the Commonwealth Health Insurance Connector Authority, an independent authority established in 2006 under Massachusetts' landmark health reform legislation. As the founding executive director, he leads key initiatives to make health insurance universally available and to reform health care financing in Massachusetts.

As a senior executive at the Tufts Health Plans for 20 years, Dr. Kingsdale was responsible for strategic planning, product development, public affairs and government relations. Prior to Tufts Health Plan, he worked in strategic planning and reimbursement at Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts, researched hospital finances at the Harvard School of Public Health, consulted on health policy issues in Washington, DC, and worked as a reporter for Forbes Magazine.

He received a doctorate in economic history from the University of Michigan and his bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania. He has taught at the Harvard School of Public Health, the Boston University School of Public Health, and Tufts University School of Medicine.

Leslie Cummings is the executive director of the California Managed Risk Medical Insurance Board (MRMIB). Ms. Cummings has over 28 years of experience in California state government, having held various positions within the executive and legislative branches. Prior to returning to MRMIB, she served as a special assistant to the Speaker of the California Assembly on health issues. She served in the executive branch as the associate director for policy at the Department of Health Services, and as a deputy director at MRMIB. In the legislature, Ms. Cummings was chief consultant to the Assembly Insurance Subcommittee on health insurance, and she was responsible for health budget issues at the Assembly Ways and Means Committee and the Legislative Analyst's Office.

Ms. Cummings participated in the drafting of California's small group health insurance reform, including the development and implementation of a state-operated purchasing pool for small employers, legislation reforming managed care, and the design and implementation of the Healthy Families Program. In 2004, she led MRMIB's efforts in assessing the impact of an employer-enacted pay or play requirement known as Senate Bill 2 on the purchasing pool that MRMIB would have operated, had SB 2 not been overturned by voters.
